

LIONS GUESTS OF THE ROTARY CLUB

About seventy-five members of the Rotary and Lions Clubs dined at the First Presbyterian Church last night. The dinner was given by the Rotarians in compliment to the Lions. After the serving of an excellent menu, H. G. Spaulding, president of the Rotary Club, and toastmaster, announced that the gathering was for the purpose of bringing the membership of the two clubs to a more fraternal plane and the cooperation of the organizations in the development of a Greater Ardmore.

One of the most pressing needs of the city today, Mr. Spaulding stated, was proper housing, and he called upon C. O. Maddox of the Lions Club to give his views upon the subject. Mr. Maddox pointed out that there are in Ardmore today at least seventy-five heads of families, business and professional men who are supporting their families in other cities because they are unable to secure homes for them here. He pointed out that there is not only the loss of business, in dollars and cents, but that a bad impression is going out that will seriously handicap efforts to develop the city. Mr. Maddox insisted that rents are too high and that there should be a radical change in Ardmore's housing or a serious evil will result. He urged the membership of both clubs to advocate the building of more and better homes, that the city may become more and more attractive to newcomers and prospective residents.

Ardmore's Schools.

C. W. Richards was called upon to tell of the educational facilities of Ardmore. Citing figures from a scholastic census now in progress Mr. Richards said that there are fully 4,000 children of school age in the city. There are enrolled at this time, more than 2,100 pupils. This, he said, would indicate that Ardmore has a population of more than 25,000. Crowded conditions in the public school buildings and the inability to secure a sufficient number of teachers is greatly handicapping the work of the schools, he said. He outlined in a manner that held the most intense interest of his auditors, the vision of the board of education and the officers of the Ardmore public school system, looking toward that day when the people of this country shall not only be able to enter their thoughts and effort on normal affairs of life, but will be able to face with the problems of a future when this country shall stand at the head of the list of nations, not only in principle and ideals of government, but as a business nation. "What sort of teachers do you want your children to be trained under?" he asked. "If you want them to be given the fullest advantages of education and want them to be properly equipped for that future, you must rally to the support of your schools, provide larger quarters, more and better teachers, and the problems confronting us will be properly solved."

To Aid Boy Scouts.

O. C. Lasher and James Barron spoke in support of the movement to properly finance and aid the Boy Scouts of Ardmore. Each club had been petitioned by Emmitt T. Reid, a scoutmaster, now in service at Camp Bowie, to assist in the work, and both organizations had taken action. Mr. Lasher and Mr. Barron pointed out the value of boy training, and asked that it be the sense of the gathering that steps be immediately taken to encourage, in every possible manner, the Boy Scout movement.

Charles Evans, now a resident of Oklahoma City, formerly superintendent of the Ardmore public schools, was called upon to speak for Edward Galt, district chairman of the war savings stamps campaign, who was absent from official business. Doctor Evans, all ways a speaker who reaches the hearts of Ardmore people, dwelt at considerable length upon the problems of today, in stating that in world affairs now is America's supreme moment. He related many excerpts from addresses by Harry Lauder and Lieut. Paul Perigord, the latter a French army officer carrying a message from the trenches to the people of the United States, which aroused outbursts of enthusiasm time after time. Doctor Evans urged the support of the thrift stamp movement and hearty and generous response to every war appeal. "Give your dollars, give everything—but give us men—men to make the world safe, and in the future it will be an honor to boast of being a Texan, a Kentuckian, a resident of any of our states—but are you forward with the enthusiasm and patriotism that has carried you 'over the top' in every campaign, it will be glorious to boast of being an Oklahoman!" Doctor Evans, in closing, repeated "The

RUSSIA'S FLUNK IS NOT MENACE

(Ardmoreite Correspondence.)

Washington, Feb. 13.—How Russia's complete withdrawal from the war will affect the allies and the United States in a military way cannot be accurately estimated at this time, officials here believe, despite the fact that on paper the German collapse would seem to give the Allies a great numerical superiority of troops on the western front. Officially, there is nothing to be said on the subject because the government has no official information. Probably no definite official pronouncement of how it affects the situation could be made any way without agreement among all the co-belligerents, and that is considered unlikely. Military men, however, confident that the allied line on the western front will hold against any force that can be thrown against it, profess not to regard the Russian separate peace as the menace it would appear on paper.

The fact that 1,500,000 German and Austrian prisoners will be freed to return to Germany is regarded with no alarm at all. Military men say they could not be quickly reorganized into efficient military units. The general opinion here is that Germany would be more interested in keeping the prisoners in Russia rather than risk having them carry bolshevik doctrine back to Germany.

The 147 Austro-German and Bulgarian divisions on the Russian front which will entirely be released by a separate peace are regarded as already having been stripped of their effectiveness, which have been transferred to the western front. Military experts say in addition that Germany would be obliged to keep some of these 147 divisions in the vast conquered territory for garrison purposes.

The one outstanding fact is that the military experts are sure reinforcements the Germans can draw from the Russian front cannot overwhelm the western line.

Russia at this time owes the United States $187,779,000 advanced for supplies which already have gone to Russia. Whether this vast sum will be a total loss to the United States depends on whether the ultimate government in Russia decides to repudiate the debt. A credit of $325,000,000 was established at the treasury for Russians, but only $187,779,000 was used when the payments were stopped.
